CASTORIA

The Kind You Have Always Bought, and which has been in use for over 30 years, has borne the signature of Chas H. Fletcher and has been made under his personal supervision since its infancy. Allow no one to deceive you in this. All Counterfeits, Imitations and "just-as-good" are but Infants and Children—Experiments against Experiment.

What is CASTORIA

Castoria is a harmless substitute for Castor Oil, Parapic, Dope and Soothing Syrups. It is pleasant. It contains neither Opium, Morphine nor other narcotic substances. Its use is its guarantee. For more than thirty years it has been in constant use for the relief of Constipation, Flatulence, Wind Colic and Diarrhea; allaying Freshness arising therefrom, and by regulating the Stomach and Bowels, aids the assimilation of Food; giving healthy and natural sleep. PERSONAL MENTION

Mrs. J. W. Martin, of Loganport, spent last week end with relatives in town.

Mr. J. W. Ayers, a prosperous farmer near town, who is confined to his bed with erysipelas, is some better.

Mr. Jas. R. Wheeler, of Salyard, Metcalfe county, Ky., is here being called to the bedside of his aged mother, who is very low.

Miss Ruth Drake is very ill of malarial fever.

Mrs. Weller Gary and Chester Helm, students of Lexington State University, are at home, the former to work the farm, the latter on account of the illness of his father, A. J. Helm.

Captain W. S. Overstreet and Mrs. Overstreet and little granddaughter, Mary, Overstreet, visited the family of Mr. and Mrs. E. C. Kuykendall last week end.

Mr. F. C. Adkins, candidate for Assessor, was in town Monday. He was looking fine and says he will win the nomination.

Mr. Gilman Flener was in town Saturday. He says he will make known his intentions in regard to the Sheriff's race during circuit court.

Mr. Sanford Wheeler, of Hartford, is in Morgantown, called here on account of the serious illness of his mother, Mrs. E. J. Wheeler.

Mr. and Mrs. Albin Helm and three children, of Madison, Tenn., arrived here Monday. Mr. Helm being called to the bedside of his brother, Albert J. Helm, who is seriously ill.

Mr. A. J. Bradley was in town Monday. He was feeling the public pulse in regard to the Sheriff's race. Says he has fine encouragement to enter the August primary.

Miss Mae Rose, who has been at work for the Home Tel. Co. in Bowling Green, for several months has returned to Morgan town.

Miss Dora Nickels and daughter, both of this town, are the great-grandmother, Mrs. Nancy King.

Mr. Heyward Johnson, son of J. J. Johnson, and Miss Ruby McKenney, daughter of Alvin McKenney, were married at the home of C. H. Galloway on the 21st inst. Rev. Davidson tied the knot. The Republican extends congratulations.

NO REASON FOR IT

You Are Shown A Way Out.

There can be no reason why any reader of this who suffers the tortures of an aching back, the annoyance of urinary disorders, the pains and dangers of kidney, ill will fail to heed the word of a resident of this locality who has found relief. The following is convincing proof of it.

J. L. White, traveling salesman, 188 First St., Russellville, Ky., says: "I was in such bad fix with my back that I couldn't turn over in bed. My back just ached all the time. I couldn't eat day or night and often had to get out of bed to ease my back. My kidneys acted irregularly. I bought Doan's Kidney Pills and short use of them made my back and kidneys well and strong."

Price 50c, at all dealers. Don't simply ask for a kidney remedy—get Doan's Kidney Pills—the same that Mr. White had. Foster-Milburn Co., Proprietary, Buffalo, N. Y.

PERSONAL MENTION

High Cost of Land, Reduced Some Time Ago, and did we would stop sending our paper to Silver Lake, Indiana, by April 1st. Quite a number have come forward and settled. Many have made new pledges. Now we are going to extend the time to May 1st—first day of Circuit Court.

Our proposition is if you will pay one year in advance at our regular price, $1.00, we will accept 50 cents per year for all you are behind with us. We want to get our paper on a cash basis.

We know you want a paper, so think about this matter and come forward and settle.

Non-partisan elections are those truly good things we are eternally hearing of but never see.

Rufus Edwards died of cancer of the liver last Saturday. He was buried by Justice Sharer at Shiloh on Sunday.

Wonder if there is anyone in Morgantown that has patriotism enough to get up a nice program for Memorial Day, May 30? We shall see.

A young society woman went into a Kansas City drug store recently to buy soap & sponge. She asked the sales girl to give her a sponge bath. The girl faint ed.

Died of Premature Old Age!

How many times we hear of comparatively young persons passing away when they should have lived to be 70 or 80 years of age. This fatal work is usually attributed to the kidneys, as, when the kidneys degenerate, it causes auto-toxicosis. The more injurious the poison passing thru the kidneys the quicker will those noble organs be degenerated, and the sooner they decay.

It is thus the wisest policy, to prevent premature old age and promote long life, to lighten the work of the kidneys. This can be done by drinking plenty of pure water all day long, and occasionally taking Anuric, double strength, before meals. This can be obtained at almost any drug store. You will find Anuric more potent than Lithia, as it dissolves uric acid as water does sugar.

FRECKLES

Now is the Time to Get Rid of Those Lucky Spots.

There's no longer the slightest need, if you will follow the directions given, to be embarrassed to remove those hateful spots.

A strip of iron three-eighths of an inch thick, three or four inches wide and thirty-six inches long, bolted to the right-hand side of the front rim, has very effectively cut down the number of freckles entirely.

This drug drives at once and simply shrivels up the corn or callous without even irritating the surrounding skin.

A small bottle of freezeine obtained at any drug store will cost very little but will positively remove every hard or soft corn or callous from one's feet.

If your druggist hasn't stocked this new drug yet, tell him to get a small bottle of freezeine for you from his wholesale drug house.—Adv.

Weak, Nervous Women,
Here Is Advice for You

Louisville, Ky.—"I wish to express my gratitude for what Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription has done for me. I was all rundown, weak, nervous, and could not sleep at all, nor eat well. I began taking the 'Prescription' and the Pellets, and after taking three bottles of the 'Prescription' I was able to do all my housework, never felt better in my life." —MRS. F. LAYTON, R. 2, Box 23, Berry Blvd.

Prepared from nature's roots and herbs, it contains no alcohol or narcotic, nor any harmful ingredient. Medicine dealers everywhere have it in tablet or liquid form.

CONCRETE PAVEMENT IS BEST

Affords as Good Foothold for Horses
As Any Other Hard Surface and Wears Quite Well.

The concrete pavement in use on the main driveway at the Kansas State Agricultural college has proved that this type of pavement is successful according to L. E. Conrad, professor of civil engineering. This pavement has been in use for more than three years and shows practically no wear.

The traffic over this road is heavy. It consists of all the coal and machine delivered to the college, a large part of the material that is used in the construction of new buildings on the campus, college mail and express, and the many pleasure vehicles that are continually using this road.

Two methods were used to surface the road. On the level portion of the roadway the finish was made comparatively smooth, while on the grades a heavy stable brush was drawn over the green cement, leaving a rough surface. It is probable that after a few years of service the roadway which has the smooth surface will present a more uniform appearance but at present there is no appreciable difference.

The contractors handling coal to the college power plant were strongly of the opinion that the road would be slippery, remarked Mr. Conrad, "but they say, after using it for three years, that it affords as good a foothold for the horses as any hard surface.

The expansion and contraction of the concrete is taken up by steel-bound joints that are placed every 35 feet, these joints being surrounded by an elastic material. Outside of a few dollars for replacing some of this material, there has been no expense whatever for the repair or upkeep of the roadway.

NATIONAL CAPITAL AFFAIRS

Washington Society Women Are Ardent Patriots

WASHINGTON. If you happen into either one of two of the city's best-known garages, and find a girl, or matron, perhaps, under a car, with grease dripping upon her fair face, and getting all smoky, you will appreciate the earnestness of nearly a hundred of Washington's best-known society women in preparing as motor mechanics to aid the nation in time of war.

A school for mechanicians has been started by the Red Cross corps of women automobile drivers recently organized by Mrs. J. Borden Harriman, Mrs. Augustus P. Gardner, Mrs. Lars Anderson, and others.

Ninety-three of the city's best-known girls and matrons are enlisted for service with the armed forces of the United States as soon as the call comes from the war department through the Red Cross.

More than a score of the drivers, many of them prepared to do battle, are qualifying as mechanicians to make field repairs. They are being schooled by experts in two big garages. The women are qualifying rapidly, and there are several who have won "diplomas" for skill in motor mechanics. They can take down and reassemble a three-gear car without a lock washer or cotter pin left over. They know the parts and can call them by name, even to all of the gears and pins in the transmission and differential. Furthermore, it is declared, they show surprising skill and strength.

The women interested are "going at it" with a vim. A garageman facetiously said he was getting frightened, because if many more of the women showed such skill the day might come when society women would do their own automobile overhauling.

The corps has been divided into companies of ten each with a captain.

Each Sunday morning the companies go to Fort Myer and practice handling army motortrucks over rough ground. Each one enlisted is a skilled driver of one or more types of passenger cars, electric or gasoline. Each is being instructed in the handling of heavier vehicles over difficult ground.

The drivers will handle all motor units of the medical and Red Cross departments, supply wagons as well as ambulances behind the lines, according to present plans.

Army officers are co-operating in the instruction of the drivers, but some of the women are giving instruction to fellow corps members.

Purchase Not Altogether a Matter of Charity

"DON'T WILSON, pussy willow, lady? Five o'clock?" Everybody loves pussy willows, but no lady could possibly be expected to waste a stick on switches bumpy with close-fisted buds and all tied around with a silk ribbon. Still when you come right down to it, a child's fight with life is just as formidable if not so scripturally important as David's combat with Goliath, so the woman, who has to grub around for small yarns, started a conversation:

"Selling a little lot, son?"

"None. Ain't sold hair bunch."

"That's bad. Where did they come from?"

I quothed em yesterday down render in Monmouth county, where I live. I haster tramp roun' everwhichway an' hardly never sell a thing counter the marsh market, but mammy she say I gotta keeper comin', 'cause how'e we gwine buy sugar an' tea an' stuff when gals alster larin' free yit 'cept'n to set with! I like pappy. I desher work in the country, where I knows how to do whatever I got to do. He's been dead most two years now."

"I like the country, too. Why don't you get a regular job down there?"

"Cause I ain't big enough to hire for a man, an' they all don't give children nothing but books an' clothe— but I gotta job ahead runnin' errands and freshin' the grass for a white lady—that's bought a house down yander to live in when warm weather comes—an' I mout happen in the garden."

Fine! I reckon I might as well take those other two bunches and then you can run along home—and give my love to Montgomery county."

The boy started off as spry as a lizard, and the woman took her switches home and put them in water.

Charity? Of course not—business. The woman put the little incident on a pad and got paid for it—and a story is always worth its price.

President Caused Flutter in Navy Department

PRINCIPAL WILSON'S recently formed habit of dropping in on Secretaries Daniels and Baker in the state, war and navy building, opposite the White House office, for informal war preparation conferences, has inspired the officials in these three important branches of the government to put forth their best efforts to have everything in readiness for the clash with Germany.

The president bobs up at unexpected moments at all hours of the day and is in thorough touch with the work in every bureaus. The other day Mr. Wilson arrived at the navy department while Secretary Daniels was giving his regular afternoon audience to Washington correspondents. About 40 newspaper men were crowded around Mr. Daniels' desk, plying him with questions. The president slipped quietly into the room, accompanied by a secret service man, took in the situation with one glance and stepped softly to a couch, where he sat down to await his turn.

The president was not noticed at first. He was discovered by a newspaper man, who apprised the secretary in a stage whisper. Instantly the correspondents separated. Lieutenant Commander McCandless jumped to a salute, and the president, laughing at the confusion he had caused, arose to his feet, greeted Mr. Daniels in cordial, but business-like fashion, and apologized for having broken up the conference.

Before the room was cleared the president and the secretary of the navy had their heads together and were earnestly discussing plans of naval preparedness. The president looked the picture of restored health, his color was good and his step springy.

Illumination of Capitol Dome Pleases Many

OWING to the continued illness of Elliot Woods, superintendent of the capitol, no definite steps were taken for some time toward the continued lighting of the capitol dome. The cost of this lighting has not been figured, but no special appropriation or legislation is necessary. There is plenty of current on tap in the capitol power house, and all that is required is to direct the flow of current to the lighting units necessary to outline the dome in white each night. The installation of the flood-lighting system for the inaugural ceremonies was paid for out of money appropriated by Congress and the system installed is a permanent one.

Now that it is ready for use, the electric light bills do not have to be reckoned with, any more than if those in charge of the capitol grounds determined to put an extra lamp post in a dark spot in the park.

Although there seems to be no possible objection to lighting the dome each night, Superintendent Woods does not have the proper authorities give their sanction formally. Scores of letters from citizens of this city, as well as from foreign visitors, have been received at the capitol, expressing desire and appreciation of the lighted dome.

BIG TASK TO GET REGIMENT READY

Springing to Arms Is Not Done as Quickly as Going to a Fire.

MAKE-UP OF A REGIMENT

Under New Law It Consists of 2,015 Officers and Men—Takes Time to Drill and Teach Men How to Care for Themselves.

New York.—The recent mobilization of National Guard regiments has brought home to the public the fact that even though troops are trained as these were by service on the Mexican border—a mobilization order is far different from a fire alarm. With the best of the regiments there was no springing to arms overnight, the men ready to march forward and meet the enemy.

Few persons, noting that a certain number of regiments had been ordered out, really knew the number of men in a regiment of infantry of the United States army and National Guard. In a general way, it was understood that a regiment consists of about one thousand men, commanded by a colonel, and that an infantry regiment is composed of foot soldiers, armed with rifles.

All nations have their own rules as to the number of men to be mustered as a regiment. In the United States this has varied. Last summer a new law went into effect which resulted in every regiment consisting of 51 commissioned officers and 1,964 enlisted men when at war strength. That law, embodied in the National Defense Act, is of interest, as showing that lining up groups of men and giving rifles and ammunition to them does not make an efficient regiment of infantry.

When Regiments...

That part of the law giving the composition of infantry units is Section Seventeen of the "Act for making further and more effectual provision for the national defense and for other purposes." It reads:

"Each regiment of infantry shall consist of one colonel, one lieutenant colonel, three majors, 16 captains, 16 first lieutenants, 16 second lieutenants, one headquarters company, one machine gun company, one supply company, and 12 infantry companies, organized into three battalions of four companies each.

"Each battalion shall consist of one major, one first lieutenant, mounted (batiment adjutant), and four companies.

Each infantry company in battalion shall consist of one captain, one first lieutenant, one second lieutenants, one supply sergeant, six sergeants, six corporals, two cooks, two buglers, one mechanic, 16 privates (first class), and 12 privates."

This calls for men who are trained, not only as soldiers, but in trades. As a general rule, a wagon train consisting of 22 wagons is required for an infantry regiment. This gives one for each company, one for the machine gun company, three for the combat wagon (ammunition) company, two for the headquarters company, and four for the supply company, for a total of 28 officers and men, commanded by a major general.

The pay scale for war as made by the government and the railroads has been worked out along the lines directly developed by Lieut. Col. Charles E. Baker of the Quartermaster Corps, who for a number of years has made an exhaustive study of military transportation. He has been in charge of transportation for the quartermaster general from 1902 until 1906 and from 1912 to the present time.

"As agreed upon by the railroads and the military authorities, representatives of the American Railway association from the operating motive power, traffic, and accounting departments of roads designated by the special committee on national defense of the American Railway association will be located in the office of the quartermaster general at each departmental headquarters, at each mobilization point, at each concentration point, and at each strategic point that troops are to be assembled. Other inspectors or representatives will be designated as may be required to facilitate the co-operation between the transportation and the military service and as the needs of the service may indicate.

Must Be Broad-Minded.

The railroads special committee on national defense has advised the carriers that officers for the above service should be chosen from a class of men who will be broad-minded and temporarily men of such character as would take a broad view of transportation in movements of troops and supplies. They should wholly divest themselves of any disposition to work for or in favor of any particular transportation line, but should apply themselves solely to the solution of the transportation problem in the manner most satisfactory to the government, and in such fashion as can be most effectively executed by the railroads. They are assigned to duty, not as transportation experts and will assist the quartermaster with whom they are serving not only in the transportation of troops but in any other matter pertaining to transportation in which their assistance may be requested.

The American Railway association representatives to the carriers provide instructions to the carriers immediately upon their arrival at the mobilization, concentration or other point to which assigned, must report to person to the commanding officer, presenting their credentials. The commanding officer should then assign them to duty with the camp quartermaster to whom they act as an assistant, and through whom all instructions must be received.

Assignments to Be Permanent.

"The assignment of the American Railway association representatives to stations at the various points and posts designated should be of a permanent character, so that the proper officer of the Quartermaster Corps or of state authorities will be able to communicate with such representatives and arrange in advance all essential details of mobilization and of movements to concentration and strategic points.

"Should it be impracticable for any reason for any representatives so chosen to continue in that capacity, their places should be filled by other appointments and the quartermaster's office affected as well as the office of the quartermaster general, should be notified.

"It is important that the American Railway association representative to each instance be advised of any change in the office of the departmental quartermaster at mobilization or concentration point in order that such representation shall have the advantage of personal contact with the new officer whenever a change is made. Quartermasters concerned should communicate in writing with the American Railway association representative, indicating any special duties in addition to those herein laid down that it would be desirable for the American Railway association representative to perform."

RAISING A NEW FLAG

NEW ENGLAND RAISES ITS BIGGEST FLAG

BOSTON.—At the moment the wires flashed the word that congress had assembled in momentous session the biggest "Old Glory" to which New Englanders ever raised their hands was flown to the breeze above Boston common. A woman's voice began: "The Star-Spangled Banner," a half dozen bands struck up the national anthem and a chorus of 100,000 or more men, women and children rolled across the old training ground out into the public gardens and was schooled from crowds that surged in the streets in front of the statehouse, down Tremont and Boylston streets and way around into the Back Bay.

SHIPS NEEDED NOW

COUNTRY MUST AT ONCE BUILD MERCHANT MARINE.

Cattle Doubt That People Are Willing to Pay for the Vessels When the Shipping Board Has Evolved a Comprehensive Plan.

It is not the ship owners that should be subsidized. They can today, and in the future, build as cheaply here as their foreign competitors; cheaper, as soon as standardization in ship types is worked out. They can buy certain ships as cheaply as the foreign ship owners. It is their labor that is dear. The opposition of organized labor against "subsidies" will vanish with the diversion of these subsidies to importers.

The La Follette seaman's act, which ship owners rail against, was not bad in itself. It worked out badly because congress has not accepted the consequences of that act and provided adequate wages for the American seamen whom that act was designed to protect. Progress lies not in repeating that law but in following it up.

The West has learned that an American transportation system cannot stop at the seaboard. We all know today what a merchant marine means. We are willing to pay the price for it. We turned the shipping board to tell us fearlessly what to do. Now it is up to that board.

The country expects a comprehensive and courageous plan. —New York Evening Mail.

WRITER MAKES ODD FRIENDS

Sometimes Attentions Which Are Received from Strangers Prove to Be Anything But Pleasant.

Print is prone to induce curious revelations from strangers. Few write, perhaps, a story that tries to be true to simple human emotions, and the next thing you know somebody in Idaho is writing you all about his wife. It is touching, but quaint. I have come to be a little suspicious of letters from strangers that purport to be simple letters of appreciation. I used to be very much flattered by them until my brief notes of thanks drew forth such unexpected replies. It appears that the writers of the letters were written of other works as well; they were sending these to me with a smile—would I kindly read and comment?

My experience is, I rather, but unique. A writer friend, whose published poetry is marked by peculiar malady, has received from more than unknown source emotions so bizarre that he can emanate from nothing but a lunatic.

It is easy to silence these strange acquaintances, but others need by direct tact. Among these are people who tell me stories they want me to tell. They never can understand why I don't use the material. As a matter of fact, raw resource striking enough to impress the lay mind is not too striking for a writer's employment. Truth that is stranger than fiction is what every story teller must avoid if he is to write stories true enough to be read. —Winifred Kirland, in Atlantic Monthly.

Don't Forget the Tariff Law.

The business interests of this country should awaken to what foreign manufacturers are planning for post-war conditions. It is practically axiomatic that Great Britain, the great open market of the world, will impose a tariff on practically all manufactured articles imported after the war. Nations that had duties are preparing to increase that tax and we must take steps to protect ourselves.

Already the munitions firms of this country are receiving invitations to establish branch factories in England to cope with after-war readjustments of commerce. We, of course, cannot prevent any nation from putting a tariff on imports in order to raise revenue and to protect our industries crippled by war. We have imposed tariffs on imports and cannot complain if our lessors adopt our methods.

Watchful Propagandizing.

When I came back to this country, it was a positive shock to find in the years that had elapsed since the outbreak of the world conflagration our country had done nothing to prepare for a reasonable national defense. Ambassador Gerard.

Well, your own party was in power all that time, Mr. Gerard, and were there asleep at the switch.

"World conflagration" yes—had the game been won, the war must win.

More or less ever since it began, and having neglected to establish a real war department, our amateur government has now dropped its vigilance and is slumbering around trying to form a few regiments and organize a bucket brigade.

No wonder Mr. Gerard is shocked poor man! Let Rear Admiral Dr. Grayson be sent for at once.

Patriotry Should Pay Prices.

The great war in which this country is involved is a struggle for democracy and justice. The nation must win with the forces of today, for it cannot now command the forces of the future. The forces of today must be strengthened, not weakened, in order that the war may be won. Crippling taxation must not be applied in a sentimental effort to give posterity immeasurable benefits with small cost to posterity.

The people of today are prepared to suffer wounds and death and privation and heavy money losses in order that they may build a noble future. It is right that the greater part of the war's cost be measured in money should be paid by both issues bearing a low rate of interest and purchased by the people in part as an act of patriotism.

War Net for Speculators' Gain.

It is now as well be understood now as later that the public opinion which demands there shall be no exploitation of the nation's necessities through excessive profits in military supplies is not determined not to submit to being exploited by food speculators of high or low degree. This is not going to be a get-rich-quick war for anybody in the United States. We are all in the same boat and mean to see that everybody takes fair.

Perfect Discipline.

Louisville Daniels, secretary of the navy, handed diploma to the graduating class at Annapolis. The midshipmen bore themselves splendidly. Not one of them laughed. —New York Telegram.

Worthy His High Position.

James R. Mann is again the majority leader in the house, a place he has filled with great service to his party and credit to himself. His work in the Sixty-fourth congress was a factor in the appeal of his party in last year's congressional campaign, with the result that the Democratic majority in that house was wiped out, and an even break with the Democrats secured in the new house. That his work in the present house will show the diligence and the capacity exhibited in the last is a certainty.

Republicans Always Loyal.
